Request for current RoHS information

Dear Sir or Madam,

The RoHS Directive (2002/95/EC) regulates the use and marketing of hazardous substances in electrical appliances and electronic components.

All components or objects subject to CE requirements that are not exclusively for military purposes must comply with the requirements of Directive 2011/65/EU (RoHS 2).

We hope that you will support us in this and kindly ask you to supply us with information about the products you have delivered and to provide us with the corresponding documents.
